

Example of Lead Business Analyst Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our company is growing rapidly and is looking to fill the role of lead business analyst. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for lead business analyst

- Able to pick up new product and technical knowledge quickly
- Comfortable presenting at Managing Director and Director level
- The ability to work in virtual teams and matrixed organizations
- The ability to manipulate and work with large volumes of data
- The ability to commit and prioritize work duties and tasks
- Educated to a Degree standard from an accredited college or university with a concentration in Business, Economics, Engineering or Computer Science (or equivalent Business Analysis certification and/or relevant work experience)
- Fluent in English (written/verbal) plus an additional language(s) are an advantage
- Collaborating with business representatives, IT architects and development leads to define optimal system solutions to meet business requirements
- The ability to influence the decisions of senior management
- Negotiation and conflict resolution experience, with the ability to balance the interests of multiple stakeholders

Qualifications for lead business analyst

- May assist with business testing, operational readiness and warranty support activities
- Contribute to lessons learned documentation and other project closure activities
- Business Analysis experience, typically with Gold/ Silver CAT status improvements in automated and non-automated components of new or changed processes

- Has extensive experience of applying analytical techniques to identify underlying issues and business needs
- Minimum 5+ years of related work experience with advanced understanding of project management, process improvement, Analysis and Design