

Example of .NET Technical Lead Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our company is hiring for a .NET technical lead. Please review the list of responsibilities and qualifications. While this is our ideal list, we will consider candidates that do not necessarily have all of the qualifications, but have sufficient experience and talent.

Responsibilities for .NET technical lead

- Deep understanding of ALM, SDLC practices and procedures (CI, Jenkins, Git, github/bitbucket, NuGet, artifactory)
- Ability to design and develop software in a group or independently
- Act as the main technical point of contact for clients on any project work
- Manage and delegate work items with the offshore teams
- Manage the creation of the WBS and backlog per sprint and assist PM in project planning
- Oversee work item status but not responsible for tracking or reporting status
- Lead the resolution of all requirements/feedback/scoping/design issues or questions directly with the clients
- Works directly with the PM for day to day running of the project
- Assist with technical documentation
- Act as technical expert and owner for resolving any technical issues, questions, or hurdles faced by development team

Qualifications for .NET technical lead

- Be able to provide concise status on all IT team activities & progress
- Analyse business requirements, processes, data, and system integration points to determine/recommend appropriate technology solutions
- Designing, coding, testing, documenting, and deploying global applications based on system and user requirements and expert knowledge in analysing,

- At least 10 years' experience building complex data driven applications using Microsoft technologies
- At least 3 year's experience implementing message based application (BizTalk or similar)
- At least 3 years' experience with either Adobe Flex or Rich Client Applications or Single Page Application frameworks like React or Angular or Silver Light