Dear Emerson Lueilwitz,

I submit this application to express my sincere interest in the BI engineer position.

In my previous role, I was responsible for training and support to external GE MAPS and GE MARS Python API users.

Please consider my experience and qualifications for this position:

- Develop in-depth understanding of underlying data, data model, structures, theories and business domains to ensure reports meet client needs
- Create and manage technical documentation of report logic and processes
- Help create new processes and procedures, and suggest improvements to current standards
- Define best practices for BI development and deployment, and create reusable templates
- Work with other BI centers of excellence create a partnership
- Participate in overall architecture and strategy for the deployment of various suite of products
- Experience in creating device agnostic BI applications that work across a wide range of media (desktop, mobile)
- Experience in large scale data handling and working with Big Data technologies

Thank you for considering me to become a member of your team.

Sincerely,

Charlie Schaden
