Our company is growing rapidly and is hiring for an analyst, infrastructure. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for analyst, infrastructure

- Provide formal knowledge transfer presentations or training sessions to wider IT Operations department
- Provide strategic input to IT Operations and GrIT management around key decision points
- Support the efforts of the IT Operations teams by providing a 2nd/3rd level point of escalation developing process and automation for those groups
- Attend regular inter-divisional technical meetings with key individuals specifically from CTO Divisions
- Represent the technical interests of GrIT in respect of major inter-divisional projects such as the Service Enablement Platform
- Demonstrate competencies with PCs and associated software
- Support our Microsoft System Center Configuration Manager (SCCM) implementation including testing, deployment, and reporting
- Work as part of a global team of senior technical staff to collaboratively identify issues, create solutions and manage the long term functionality of the SCCM environment
- Analyze reporting results and identify issue, trends, and report to management
- Identifies, analyzes, selects and applies appropriate new information technology infrastructure components within a diverse environment as required to support strategic business plans and processes

Qualifications for analyst, infrastructure

- Familiarity with storage systems technologies and implementation strategy
- Familiarity with Python scripting language
- Familiarity with windows Server 2008 and 2012
- Experience in investment banking or private equity with an emphasis in infrastructure investments desirable
- European language skills are desirable