Our company is growing rapidly and is searching for experienced candidates for the position of application developer lead-vp. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for application developer lead-vp

- Expertise breaking-down monolithic applications Performance Monitoring (APM) into suitable open source monitoring solutions
- Research emerging Open source tools, trends and methodologies and enhance existing systems processes and Application Performance Monitoring (APM) experience
- Participate in strategy and future implementation discussions for the redesign and implementation of the monitoring environment to modernize with latest technology trends
- Ensure all relevant applications monitoring and services are properly covered within the monitoring and alerting systems in a manner consistent with the Banks' standards
- Lead Application Support team to ensure a stable and reliable production environment
- Involve Project in early stage review solution design, dependency, risk/ readiness assessment ensure the deliverables meet Group & Regulator requirements
- Production service resume if there is any outages
- To conduct the root cause analysis and to identify the permanent solution
- Perform testing against the fix and perform impact analysis before applying the fix
- Stable and Reliable production environment for the applications in support scope (measured by SLA)

- Familiarity with Time series database OneTick, KDB
- Hands-on experience working on messaging technologies like JMS, MQ, TIBCO, AMPS
- Hands-on experience working on database technologies like Oracle, Sybase
- Strong knowledge of Java Application Development through work experience
- Strong experience of Integration platforms and projects
- In-depth industry and academic knowledge with minimum 10 years proven experience in process analysis and design, preferably in financial services/banking related to Big Data and Analytic