

Example of Application Scientist Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our company is growing rapidly and is looking to fill the role of application scientist. To join our growing team, please review the list of responsibilities and qualifications.

Responsibilities for application scientist

- Executes experiments per protocol
- Oversees the laboratory's Quality Control program to ensure the laboratory is in compliance with all FDA (GLP), ISO and CAP regulations
- Performs standard clinical laboratory analyses in urinalysis, chemistry, and bacteriology
- Prepares and implements SOPs for the Clinical Studies laboratory, Training lower level technicians
- Participate in Specialty Team projects/individual projects
- Successful communicator both verbally and written
- Collaborate with global Techsupport team to share experience, provide feedback and resolve customer issues
- Stringently follow company process and compliance
- Formulate commercially-viable food and supplement applications including bars, beverages, bakery products, confectionary and related products, utilizing a variety of ingredients, including dairy, flax and chia with a solutions approach and building lower cost solutions
- Support new ingredient solutions with food and supplement formulations

Qualifications for application scientist

- Normal laboratory and office environments
- Handles blood products and other biological and chemical hazards
- In depth experience with HPLC purification techniques and HPLC separations

- Master degree in Science or equivalent, along with related experience, serving environmental health field
- Assertiveness with a strong bias for action, results, and constant profitability growth
- Manage multiple tasks in a result-oriented, commercial environment