Our company is looking for an automation engineer. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for automation engineer

- Participates in quotation briefings, purchase of equipment, workplace design, and design of new tools, efficiency and problem solving methods
- Participates in the specification of hardware and software for systems with functional and technical responsibility in automation
- Leads in design for manufacturing discussions and propose changes to reduce cost and improve manufacturability
- Supports maintaining control of machine and equipment capability through generating preventative and autonomous maintenance schedule
- Develops and implements plans for programs for facility modification and revisions to operating methods
- Makes sure all system risk assessments are completed according to the industrial standards
- Anticipates problems by leading FMEA and follow up actions
- Supports in nonconformance investigations including root cause and corrective actions, assessment of further process improvements
- Documents & prepares work instructions
- Considered the expert in the assessment of incidents regarding automated injuries in the value stream and propose and implement corrective actions

Qualifications for automation engineer

- Prior experience in a cGMP regulated industry including experience with relevant European regulatory requirements and 21 CFR part 11
- Experience in HMI/SCADA systems mining, real-time optimization algorithms and ad-serving platforms

- You will be responsible for various web bases testing, demons testing, database testing, Performance testing
- BS Degree in the following disciplines
- 5 years' experience with cloud automation or orchestration platforms (e