Our company is growing rapidly and is looking for a back-end developer. Thank you in advance for taking a look at the list of responsibilities and qualifications. We look forward to reviewing your resume.

Responsibilities for back-end developer

- Working knowledge of with HTTP, REST and Server Side Protocols
- Functional Knowledge of what is involved in Video Streaming
- Work with Product Managers and other developers on new feature design and enhancements to existing applications
- Partner with QA to help diagnose and resolve system deficiencies and provide suggestions to improve their development processes and environment
- In this position you will provide software design and development expertise in support of both new application development tasks and maintenance
- Developers support the entire product lifecycle to include systems engineering and requirement analysis, technical design, system integration, implementation and deployment
- Working with cutting-edge technology, like CXF, Solr, JBoss, Hibernate, Hadoop
- Getting involved with micro-services and developing API's
- Solving interesting and challenging problems
- Interacting with the data that exists within the Microsoft Master Data Service (MDS) database through a custom SDK library

Qualifications for back-end developer

- Expereince focusing on enterprise scale backend architectures
- 5+ years of experience designing, developing, debugging and deploying

- Experience working with either relational or non-relational databases – ideally both
- Experience working with cloud architectures – preferably with AWS
- Ability to deal with ambiguity and work in a highly agile environment