

Example of Business Architecture Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our company is growing rapidly and is looking for a business architecture. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for business architecture

- Manage and maintain office facilities (coordinate equipment maintenance and repair, take out trash, break down boxes, dishes, etc)
- Perform/run errands as needed
- Research, analyze, determine capabilities, and propose solution alternatives that address specific business needs and product/service strategies
- Establish and manage process to create and maintain specifications (API, Data, Business Rules, and Infrastructure Blueprints)
- Develop a business architecture strategy for multiple domains, applying a structured approach and methodology for capturing key views of the business
- Work as an effective liaison between the business and technology to effectively influence and negotiate decisions as they relate to the domain strategies
- Create and own a multi-year road-map for capabilities within the domains
- Manage, lead and develop the ESIA team and deliver priority outcomes in alignment with the strategic roadmap for Services Transformation
- Act as an evangelist and catalyst for Information Architecture innovation
- Engage broadly with the business teams to frame, structure and prioritize business problems where Information Architecture can have the biggest impact

Qualifications for business architecture

- Experience developing communication plans with many separate stakeholders that address varying degrees of sponsorship and alignment
- Experience leading change and inspiring teams to work through complexity and natural resistance to change
- Demonstrated ability to collaborate effectively with business leaders and other key partners to drive results
- Program and Project management and consulting experience
- Work experience in a finance, health care and / or Insurance setting