

Example of Business Information Security Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our growing company is hiring for a business information security. To join our growing team, please review the list of responsibilities and qualifications.

Responsibilities for business information security

- Communicates business knowledge and requirements to the Information Security organization thus ensuring security is aligned with business strategy and need
- Counsels business units in understanding regulatory information security compliance requirements and helps ensure compliance
- Investigates security incidents for the business and works with Information Security teams to recommend/implement appropriate corrective actions
- Analyze impact of new technologies and regulative changes on information security
- Develop and maintain an IT security application testing strategy, policies and standards, and architecture
- Do application tests remotely and onsite to help ensure audit, regulatory and policy satisfaction
- Provide support within the Global IT Security team on all application testing matters
- Provide endorsement to Manager on security projects and operations personnel
- End User Security Expert for the North America Finance Systems
- Support risk assessment initiatives, coordinate interaction between ISG and divisional stakeholders, and develop and maintain related documentation such as requirements, timelines, reporting, management presentations

Qualifications for business information security

- Formal external project management and security qualification desirable (PRINCE 2, CISSP, CISM, CISA) or willingness to obtain these
- Excellent interpersonal skills the ability to develop and maintain trusted relationships across the firm are essential
- Clear understanding of project management processes, and the ability to manage key deliverables
- Commitment to teamwork and able to demonstrate strong client relationships
- Ability to work under own initiative and prioritise requests as they are received
- Experience of building and managing relationships across a wide stakeholder base