

Example of Clinical Applications Specialist Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our innovative and growing company is searching for experienced candidates for the position of clinical applications specialist. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for clinical applications specialist

- Development of customized training materials
- Consulting of Clinical Workflows
- Provide first level of Desktop and Application support for Radiation Oncology Department and Interface between the department and the various divisions of NYU MCIT
- Troubleshoot Radiation Oncology IT related issues including (but not limited to) Aria Application, Desktop, networking, storage, hardware, citrix and Triage the issues as needed to appropriate teams within MCIT
- Provide advance troubleshooting support for applications as necessary
- Work on helpdesk tickets, change requests, work orders, and new rollouts
- Triage audio-visual and video conferencing issues to onsite desktop team and follow up
- Ensure System changes, follow clinical workflow, change management procedures and protocols, create and maintain all documentation for all assigned applications and develop, plan and execute testing for supported applications
- Communicate all necessary application changes, enhancements and procedures to all necessary department teams and follow proper change management process
- Assists the sales organization in demonstrating and selling all ultrasound products by providing the technical imaging expertise of ultrasound

- Familiar with CT/MR equipment, and scanning injection protocols
- Preferred with solid experience in various medical image processing algorithms in segmentation, registration or pharmacokinetic models
- Willingness to travel within your specified geographic region nationwide
- Must have a valid driver's license as travel is essential this is a home-based role, however up to 80% travel can be expected
- Degree in Science, Orthoptics, Optometry, Marketing or Business (Master is preferable) • Proficiency in English both written & spoken is a must • Able to converse in Bahasa Malaysia or other Chinese dialects (optional) • 3 years sales and or marketing experience in Ophthalmology
- Bachelor's Degree in a Biological OR Life Science Discipline