Our innovative and growing company is searching for experienced candidates for the position of data quality lead. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for data quality lead

- Leverages intermediate knowledge to implement controls to mitigate data quality risks including monitoring data quality results, reports and dashboards
- Tracking data cleansing processes and assist with training and escalation as necessary to ensure the business is cleansing data in alignment with the programs Agile wave releases
- Data quality subject matter expert (SME), providing quality monitoring and audit support for Enterprise Data Governance Leads
- Responsible for defining and documenting Quality rules for data classification and registration for both structured and unstructured data
- Closely partner with extended RCMO, Capital Data Middle Office, Regulatory Policy & Oversight, Credit Executives, Capital CDO, Technology Teams, Lines of Business and Risk to deliver data quality projects
- Establish clear ownership and accountability for data analytics at an individual level supported by a clearly defined forum for ongoing governance
- Drive the Data Quality Issues root case analysis through using a framework and identification of the SMEs in the many different functions to drive firmwide strategic solutions and timely remediation
- Report key data quality metrics to EIM stakeholders
- Define and implement metadata, ontology, taxonomy standards for structured and unstructured data
- Leads effort for assessment of a Data Governance Workflow Tool/Proof of Concept(POC)

- Experience with EMR and RedShift is a strong plus
- Experience in using vendor DQ tools
- Capacity to think strategically
- Experience working in MDM, CRM, Data Warehousing and analytics information domains
- Previous experience in a financial services context, specifically insurance and wealth management advantageous
- Relevant Business or IT degree or qualification