

Example of Data Scientist, Analytics Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our company is looking to fill the role of data scientist, analytics. We appreciate you taking the time to review the list of qualifications and to apply for the position. If you don't fill all of the qualifications, you may still be considered depending on your level of experience.

Responsibilities for data scientist, analytics

- As part of the core data science group, candidate will lead project teams in developing innovative, reusable, and scalable solutions
 - Candidate will actively engage with analytics partners, stakeholders, and customers within and outside of Information Technology
 - Data/Statics analysis –Prepare solid (historical) data analysis reports to measure performance of processes to identify improvement opportunities and research subjects
 - Compliance - adheres to Company ES&H, FCPA, Business Conduct and human rights policies
 - Influencing – cross-bridge between (Global) Production Research Scientist, Field Quality Scientists and QC Scientists
 - Assist and build databases that identify opportunities to evaluate and optimize HR programs
 - Complete all analytic tasks according to research standard operating procedures in the department
 - Develop and maintain documentation related to evaluation analytics and research
 - Coach and support less experienced analysts
 - Provide technical leadership in research, design, develop and evaluate first-of-kind data analytics solutions to provide real time diagnostics and therapeutic decision support applications
-

- Presentation, leadership and client facing skills are a must
- Knowledge of evaluating success of predictive models, both for classification
- A strong academic record with at least one degree in a technical discipline
- Designing metrics of marketplace health and systems for monitoring those metrics in real time
- Designing and executing experiments to evaluate proposed changes in the system or tune system parameters
- Minimum 2 years of prior data science or engineering experience in applied statistics or data analytics