

Example of Dermatology Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our company is looking for a dermatology. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for dermatology

- Collects and logs specimens
- Assists in the coordination of laboratory and pathology result reporting process
- Performs quality checks and maintains current log
- Informs and prepares patients skin for procedures
- Foster innovation through high performing team behaviors with a clear focus on people, performance, and patients
- Develop an external engagement strategy to build, sustainable strong relationships with investigators, academic centers and the Dermatology community, serve as face of Dermatology therapeutic area lead for Psoriasis, be able to engage medically and scientifically at eye level
- Leverage experience in clinical dermatology and clinical development to secure strong science in the development and launch of commercially viable products utilizing aggressive timelines
- Lead strategic US Medical input to Global Development on clinical development with focus on Psoriasis (Phase II - IV), pre-registration, label extension, pre- and post-market launch strategies, and life cycle management
- Enable a positive team environment and effectively interact with global clinical, scientific and marketing teams and lead by direct and indirect influence
- In surgical departments uses electronic OR scheduling systems to view and print schedules

Qualifications for dermatology

- 5-7 years of biopharmaceutical or other equivalent experience
- 2-3 years of marketing (brand or product management) experience within the biopharmaceutical industry, or equivalent marketing experience within CPG, or medical device
- Strong analytics with excellent overall business acumen
- Exceptional ability to work in a matrix organization
- Develop and implement policies and procedures to assure achievement of Marketing Plan objectives