

Example of Development Engineering Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our company is growing rapidly and is hiring for a development engineering. To join our growing team, please review the list of responsibilities and qualifications.

Responsibilities for development engineering

- Prepare and present projects for project/design reviews, tooling reviews, brainstorm sessions, weekly team meetings, agency reviews, per the NPD process
- Maintain Project Books and report out in Phase Reviews and dash board meetings
- Deliver accurate product cost estimates for project financial justification
- Manage all project risks throughout the development cycle while providing appropriate options
- Overall management and direction of market real estate, zoning and construction resources in development of new site installation and existing network infrastructure upgrades
- Provides development program management including reporting and data integrity, processes, best practices, all business support functions including OPEX and SC/HC approvals
- Leads Development team training, development, coordination, and communication
- Oversees Site Acquisition/Zoning feasibility, leasing and permitting in accordance with company and regulatory compliance requirements
- Monitors implementation of market construction standards for design and QA consistency
- Administers ICAs, PSAs, MCSAs for the Market service providers

Qualifications for development engineering

- Excellent academic record with a Bachelor's degree in Engineering or Business
- Working toward degree in Packaging
- Support R&D activities for next generation Telematics Systems with a focus on cloud technologies
- Rapidly conceptualize and prototype cloud-based microservices
- Must be enrolled or have completed a degree within the last 6 months in a Bachelor's, Master's or PhD program in Electrical Engineering, Computer Engineering, or Computer Science
- Ability to provide college transcripts letter of recommendation from a faculty member