

Example of Digital Development Manager Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our growing company is searching for experienced candidates for the position of digital development manager. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for digital development manager

- Work directly with other Digital software teams to deliver high quality software features and updates
- Define the strategy and own the execution of it in your team
- Senior contact for key Australian Digital Customers
- Identify, document and track a clear pipeline of business opportunities across the Rail, Airline and ground transportation sectors split by country
- Create professional proposals in response to customer RFI's and RFP's and submit within deadlines laid out
- Become an expert and centre of excellence in digital publications within the organisation by educating and keeping abreast of changes in the industry
- Requirement to support as required in wider business development projects
- Commercial responsibility within the business for digital publications
- Develop a strong relationship with teams across the business to support and deliver new business activities
- Establish relationships and co-ordinate closely with publishers and publication circulation regulators

Qualifications for digital development manager

- Ability to travel to meetings, industry events and conferences
- 10 years of data or technology experience within of the Construction, Automotive, Aerospace, Telematics/GPS, Telecommunications or or related

- Good judge of top software engineering talent, and ability to grow their careers
- Experience with leading teams to build high-performance, highly-available and scalable distributed systems
- The ability to distill problem definitions and constraints from informal business requirements, deal with ambiguity and competing objectives