

Example of DIR-Program Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our company is searching for experienced candidates for the position of dir-program. We appreciate you taking the time to review the list of qualifications and to apply for the position. If you don't fill all of the qualifications, you may still be considered depending on your level of experience.

Responsibilities for dir-program

- Participates in medical simulation
- Track and communicate team progress
- Develop long-term enterprise contact center strategy in alignment with company objectives
- Direct team of project managers to deliver value added solutions to the contact center
- Primary interface with senior team and key stakeholder to communicate strategies, status, and results
- Primary interface with external vendors to identify best in class solutions for the contact center
- Partner with Operations to drive improvements with contact center service delivery
- Development and maintenance of program plan, including but not limited to charter, project plan, business case, timeline and budget recommendations
- Ensure compliance with company and regulatory guidelines and standards
- Responsible for coaching, developing, and mentoring of all direct reports in line with corporate objectives

Qualifications for dir-program

- PMI Certification, working towards obtaining or approved equivalent which may include experience

- Experience teaching/administrating peripheral nerve blocks and chronic pain management
- PhD or APRN degree, and experience in research management are highly desired
- Good organizational and great people skills and the ability to work with multiple PIs and a diverse pool of research personnel/research volunteers will be prioritized