Our company is growing rapidly and is looking to fill the role of director, design. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for director, design

- Develop innovative graphic design concepts to support the vision and achieve project objectives and timelines
- This is a design position taking projects from concept to completion
- Building and leading world class design planning and user research teams
- Lead the collaborative service design for all key projects with the project teams
- Ultimately, owning the continuous and growing momentum of the credibility of DCE design planning and research
- Implement innovative, thoughtful experience design with effective communication
- Work with clients to understand current state of rewards programs and help design/implement future rewards programs based on key business performance objectives
- Provide full scope of broad and executive-based compensation consulting services, including assessment, design, governance, and implementation services
- Lead IPO compensation planning initiatives, including equity plan design, cash incentive plan redesign, and program communications
- Gathering and interpreting product feedback

Qualifications for director, design

- You attract exceptional talent and match people to the right opportunities

- 7+ years work experience in the Apparel Industry including technical design and patternmaking with construction experience and full knowledge of total production timeline
- Design and manage all visual effects, displays, and images for product, software and prototypes
- Strong leadership, product ownership and management skills
- Proven ability to turn complex product design issues into clean, intuitive solutions