

Example of Director, Design Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our growing company is searching for experienced candidates for the position of director, design. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for director, design

- Lead the creative interiors efforts on client projects, developing overall design concepts and design presentation strategies
- Be an advocate for customer-centered design and facilitate cross-disciplinary teams through each stage of the design process
- Manage the day-to-day activities of the design team and hire great new talent to expand the design team's capabilities
- Mentor and provide creative direction to interior design teams
- Act as the primary interior design interface with clients and consultants
- Lead and facilitate a talented, multi-disciplinary team through each stage of the design process
- Craft project approaches that challenge the status quo and lead to highly valuable and impactful design solutions
- Create highly valuable and impactful design solutions that challenge the status quo
- Provide full scope of broad and executive-based compensation consulting services, including assessment, design, governance, technical guidance, and implementation services
- At least seven years of design experience

Qualifications for director, design

- You are a design thinking expert
- Expertise working and building designs with code -- HTML/CSS required,

- 10+ years of relevant experience including a successful track record of developing and implementing product and platform solutions based on a needs based, consultative approach combined with market intelligence, competitive analysis and business planning
- Ability to apply technology principles to facilitate the solving of complex business problems and to boil complex problems down to simple and understandable terms
- Experience in managing high volume of work and understanding of project management best practices
- Demonstrated success in building and managing virtual teams the ability to steer and motivate the organization towards a common goal