

Example of Director, Enterprise Architecture Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our innovative and growing company is searching for experienced candidates for the position of director, enterprise architecture. Thank you in advance for taking a look at the list of responsibilities and qualifications. We look forward to reviewing your resume.

Responsibilities for director, enterprise architecture

- Gain organizational commitment for all high-level enterprise architecture plans, and initiate and participate in projects
- Work with diverse team to design, diagram and write to technical solutions as a contributor to the overall solution approach
- Participate in person and on calls with customers and internal staff as a technical SME
- Support project, proposal, and marketing efforts
- Participate in pipeline, proposal, and project review activities to evaluate and guide solution approaches and next step
- Developing client specific RFP response and project materials
- Support the full capture life cycle including writing, participation in client best and final offers (BAFO), and participating in client oral presentations
- Understanding industry, market, state government trends and guide technical solutions to address these trends and client needs
- Develop white papers on new concepts to booster Truven market position and thought leadership
- Be able to speak at conferences and client engagements to Truven capabilities and strengths

Qualifications for director, enterprise architecture

- Proven track record of applying developed architectures to delivery of production systems
- Ownership of the enterprise architecture development lifecycle
- Exhibited experience in the design, architecture and execution of complex enterprise solutions
- Strong communication is key function coupled with self-confidence
- Strong business analysis skills and experience, including development of business vision and strategies, functional decomposition, requirements capture and process modeling