

Example of Director, Training Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our growing company is looking for a director, training. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for director, training

- Engages actively on company social media sites
- Develop and execute Medical Affairs hematology on-boarding and continuing education training curricula (clinical and non-clinical) along with developing and implementing best practices with innovative and impactful adult training/learning principles
- To understand and have a working knowledge of the Janssen-relevant marketed and pipeline assets including respective disease states and therapeutic area landscapes
- Serve as the lead contact with key internal colleagues (e.g., Sales Training, Global Medical Affairs) to share and leverage best practices and training materials as appropriate
- Oversee direct report who is responsible for solid tumor portfolio
- Provide strategy development, commercialization, and operations alignment for customer training in the Energy Connections business
- Collaborate with Legal, Sales, Marketing, Product Managers, and Product Engineering teams to align and develop services capabilities and scale in concert with commercial focus
- Ensure that training programs & associated collateral are in place in a sustainable and efficient manner across the entire EC portfolio
- Incorporate the full range of learning technologies to maximize outcome effectiveness, while optimizing resource utilization
- Leverage industry certification programs where applicable

Qualifications for director, training

- Ability to thrive in a changing environment with evolving priorities and able to work autonomously and/or within teams and serve as a trusted partner and advisor with internal team members
- Ensure personal credibility and impact through influencing others, leading people, and communicating clearly
- A mature, balanced outlook that lends itself to fast, pragmatic decisions and actions based on sound judgment
- Experience with luxury apparel and accessories product knowledge and training
- Experienced delivering and developing on the selling floor training content within a world-class luxury environment, but experience specifically as a trainer not required
- Ability to drive business and exceptional service culture through training and coaching of store teams