

Example of ECHO Technologist Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our company is looking for an ECHO technologist. We appreciate you taking the time to review the list of qualifications and to apply for the position. If you don't fill all of the qualifications, you may still be considered depending on your level of experience.

Responsibilities for ECHO technologist

- Performs all related diagnostic duties and patient care functions requiring comparable skills and experiences
- Administers a variety of non-invasive tests using ultrasound technology
- Recognizes new wall motion abnormalities during a stress echo that may be a reason for test termination after alerting the supervising MD
- Able to compile a diagnostic preliminary report
- Performs echocardiograms on adult and pediatric patients
- Maintains cleaning and equipment and performs leak test on TEE probes
- Perform vascular ultrasound studies
- Inserts, monitors and removes IV used for agitated saline, LV contrast studies and nuclear studies
- Administers IV contrast via IV per protocol
- Manage echo schedule, develop preliminary report, process reports

Qualifications for ECHO technologist

- Video equipment, digital lab equipment, telephone and beeper
- Wheelchairs and stretchers
- Hospital computer software, printers, fax
- This position is PRN and requires flexible days and weekends
- RCS or RCDS certification preferred
- This position is full-time mixed rotating weekends