Our company is hiring for an ETL application developer. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for ETL application developer

- Participate in application deployments in a production environment
- Understands and can apply best practices to application solutions
- Execute and test new application development and enhancements
- Plans and provides ETL solutions to achieve desired end-results on business problems working closely with Data Architects and BI Admin team
- Independently performs problem determination and resolution in the production environment and support production as needed both during and after normal business hours
- Performs code, design, and test plan reviews for peers and develops system implementation schedules
- Learn new tools / technologies / methodologies as appropriate for the department
- You will be a key part of the Informatica Data Supply Services delivery team
- You will be assigned Senior Developer tasks for complex Informatica Development projects
- You will play a part on the on-call rotation providing after hours support

Qualifications for ETL application developer

- Functional knowledge of Corporate Billing and Expense Management systems is a big plus
- Hands on experience with database like Oracle, MSSQL Server and database languages like SQL, PL/SQL and TSQL- Experience of data usage for SAP

- 3 + years of development experience using Java, Spring framework, JSP and Javascript
- Experience preferably using Oracle
- Experience working on a Unix platform (Red Hat Linux preferred)
- 3 + years of ETL tools and Business Intelligence reporting experience