

Example of Graduate Analyst Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our company is looking to fill the role of graduate analyst. We appreciate you taking the time to review the list of qualifications and to apply for the position. If you don't fill all of the qualifications, you may still be considered depending on your level of experience.

Responsibilities for graduate analyst

- Maintain engagement with Product Manager throughout analysis and coding stages of the project and run software demonstrations to Product Managers for approval
- Contribute to Product and Release Notes documentation
- Provide regular and clear communication to other colleagues to ensure alignment on projects
- Work with other BAs and the One Business Architect to identify integration issues across the portfolio of products
- Run knowledge transfer sessions to Application Support once products are ready to launch
- Work in Virtual Product Teams to learn and contribute to product knowledge across the business
- Contribute to project RAID analysis and logs
- Contribute to PMO Project Status Report (PSR)
- Global and diverse work environment and culture
- Highly competitive benefits package including pension scheme, 25 days holiday, private medical insurance, income protection with the ability to further tailor your benefits package to suit your individual needs, including discounted gym membership, travel insurance, childcare, retail vouchers and much more

Qualifications for graduate analyst

- Degree qualification or equivalent in a relevant computer science discipline (BE/MCA)
- A thirst for knowledge and strong drive to succeed
- The ability to build effective relationships with people across all functions
- Must be fluent in business Mandarin
- Proven track record in University/Work Environment with an interest in financial or quantitative
- Strong communicator, great interpersonal and influencing skills