Example of Health Safety Specialist Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our innovative and growing company is looking to fill the role of health safety specialist. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for health safety specialist

- Will design, institute, and document health, safety and environmental programs, including Food Safety assurance
- Advises plant management on all quality related issues health, safety and environmental and safety related issues
- Measures customer satisfaction and takes corrective action as appropriate
- Implements “just in time” techniques to ensure quality levels remain high and consistent
- Advises and consults with plant management on all continuous improvement and quality/safety related issues (may include environmental related issues)
- Ensures compliance in the safe handling of hazardous materials and waste
- Recommends and implements changes as needed
- May implement and oversee safety and environmental programs
- Is an individual-contributor role within a plant environment and have no direct reports
- Facilitate high level operational risk assessments

Qualifications for health safety specialist

- Work indoors and outdoors in hot, cool, moist, and humid conditions
- Meets physical and mental requirements, with or without reasonable accommodations, of the position
- The most qualified candidate based upon experience, education, interview, additional trainings attended, knowledge, and ability to demonstrate the

- Hiring Manager has discretion to place and/or move any EHS Coordinator from Unit to Unit
- You have working knowledge of purpose, calibration requirements, and how-to-operate and calibrate various EHS (Environmental Health and Safety) equipment preferred
- Demonstrated ability to conduct effective health and safety surveys, quantitative and qualitative exposure/risk assessments, and data analyses