

Example of HTML Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our company is looking for a HTML. Thank you in advance for taking a look at the list of responsibilities and qualifications. We look forward to reviewing your resume.

Responsibilities for HTML

- Is the subject matter expert for Pixel Tracking on the booking engines, including their interaction with other system and all relevant internal processes
- Assists in the development and documentation of new processes and procedures within the Tracking support department and with other departments
- Represents the Tracking Support team in internal meetings such as change control, issues resolution, process and procedure development
- Suggests enhancements to the product that will improve its stability and ability to be supported
- Ensure issues are completely researched and correctly documented in Salesforce prior to escalation to other departments
- Act as the liaison between Operations and IT to gather additional information on system issues, co-ordinate clarification of support requests and validation of changes after changes are implemented
- Technology research, design and coding
- Ensure quality processes (code reviews, unit testing, QA, task tracking) are completed, following and where necessary enhancing existing guidelines
- Play a major role in the analysis and bug fixes
- Work effectively with the UK

Qualifications for HTML

- In-depth understanding of basic web technology
- Knowledge of CSS3 and CSS pre-processing platforms, including SASS and LESS
- Knowledge of AJAX, including asynchronous request handling, partial page updates, and integrating browser applications with REST Web services
- Knowledge of cross-browser idiosyncrasies and compatibility issues and ways to work around them