Our company is searching for experienced candidates for the position of implementation business analyst. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for implementation business analyst

- Gathering and analysing user requirements and business processes
- Effectively elicit and analyze requirements to ensure the true business goals and objectives are satisfied
- Strong collaboration with team members to ensure data and functional integrity across projects and systems
- Hands on responsibility for system configuration approaches and implementation
- Actively participate in solution design, implementation, and quality assurance activities
- Produce high quality and timely analysis and configuration deliverables
- Actively participate in discussions with project team(s) regarding the proper scope and features for each release
- Effectively communicate (both in written form and verbally) requirements
- Participate in estimating tasks and defining the appropriate analysis process and deliverables for project assignments
- Participate in the definition, refinement, and documentation of business analysis best practices

Qualifications for implementation business analyst

- Strong aptitude for problem-solving and the ability to resolve complex issues while retaining a strong customer service focus

- Ability to research system issues, formulate solutions, and present solutions to end-users
- Willing to be available for phone support 24x7
- Ability to learn complex concepts and subjects under a variety of conditions including formal and informal training on the job coaching and through trial and error
- Demonstrated ability to identify issues and propose methodological solutions