Our growing company is looking to fill the role of information security manager. To join our growing team, please review the list of responsibilities and qualifications.

Responsibilities for information security manager

- Demonstrating high quality team management practices with a highly productive team
- Providing direct and indirect guidance and strategic coaching of architectural staff
- Advising, influencing, and educating the rest of the company on matters of security
- Communicating technical ideas and strategy clearly to technical and non-technical audiences in multiple media (e.g., speech, presentations, and prose)
- Collaborating with Engineering and Operations management around security goals
- Delivering results in a quickly changing environment, and making progress on strategic and tactical goals transparent to management and cross-business teams
- Developing and maintaining positive working relationships with business units, including developing a strategy to support their security maturity
- Supporting product teams in understanding the risks their technical choices bring to the business
- Reviewing new technologies and products for security implications, including safety, compliance and operational aspects
- Providing expert advice during security incidents

Qualifications for information security manager

- Industry certification in information security such as CEH, CISSP, GIAC or equivalent
- Managing a team of cybersecurity and information security professionals supporting daily operational tasks, security services delivery, projects and initiatives
- Knowledge of security frameworks, standards, guidelines and best practices required
- Experience leading a transition from manual to automated environments, , tasks, processes, pipelines