Our company is growing rapidly and is hiring for an integration analyst. Thank you in advance for taking a look at the list of responsibilities and qualifications. We look forward to reviewing your resume.

Responsibilities for integration analyst

- Experience in message modeling, XML, XSLT
- To work closely with programmers & product designers
- Writing of test plans and undertaking testing as part of the development process
- Support for internal teams with usage guides, training, troubleshooting and other technical assistance
- Ensure PEG applies consistency and best practice to the integration approach, enabling the acquired target to be successfully integrated and measured, ensuring all learnings are captured and utilized to enhance the process
- Creation and update of comprehensive integration plans, that enable achievement of the strategic benefits and success measures set for the acquisition, whilst ensuring that relevant risks are mitigated, including establishment of appropriate internal controls
- Drive day-to-day execution of the overall integration process, leading weekly PEG integration team meetings, to ensure that integration plans remain relevant and are being well executed
- Set and manage the pace of integration, ensure effective management of stakeholder communications, track and report against objectives and success measures, during integration execution, at regularly defined intervals to internal management
- Drive continuous improvement by incorporating feedback and lessons learned, into updated integration processes and tools for application on

- May contribute to development of, application test plan, test cases and evaluate test results to assist development or test staff

Qualifications for integration analyst

- Expert knowledge of concepts, operating principles, and methodology applicable to change management and process improvement
- Knowledge of less complex systems within the functional area
- Experience working with spatial data and GIS
- Prefer minimum of 1-2 years experience, preferably within reporting, technology or accounting
- In depth understanding of reporting functions
- Highly motivated individual with desire to influence change on a large scale