Our company is growing rapidly and is looking for an integration developer. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for integration developer

- Help tp design and deliver a new continuous integration platform
- Work with technical and functional groups to provide systems analysis and design in support of integration development identified by SAIL initiative
- Document technical and design specifications
- 24 hours a day, 7 days a week support for all interface servers
- Conceptualize, develop and implement application and data integration solutions
- Lead integration developer and platform manager for integrating data between systems such as PeopleSoft, Salesforce.com, Data-warehouse, and other applications
- Create real-time integrations that are critical to running day to day business activities
- Partner with application, infrastructure, and information architect leaders to develop a cohesive, rational, scalable, and adaptable future state architecture based on business strategy
- Develop and document policies and standards for managing the integration architecture framework
- Enhance or improve business processes via integration, or, as necessary, minimize the impact of integration on those processes

Qualifications for integration developer

- 2 years of experience developing Canonical Data Models (CDM)

- 2 years of experience using source control systems and code promotion techniques (We use SVN)
- Advanced proficiency designing Service Oriented Architectures (SOAs)
- Intermediate knowledge in Enterprise integration architectural patterns
- Intermediate familiarity with LINUX Red Hat, UNIX, Windows system configuration (networking, file systems) or Network configuration