Our growing company is looking to fill the role of javascript software engineer. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for javascript software engineer

- Enhance existing and/or develop new software that enables the launch of new products, functionality and services with technologies ranging from HTML5, CSS3, and JavaScript, including AngularJS and Polymer
- Hands-on experience implementing automated testing for JavaScript technologies, for both unit tests and integration tests
- Write high-quality JavaScript and native code that communicates with upstream backend services via HTTP APIs
- Maintains system development schedule and oversee progress to ensure timely delivery,escalating issues when necessary
- Convey the core principles of our framework to internal and external audiences
- Review, provide feedback and approve contributions to the codebase
- Write clear, thorough API documentation, and review documentation written by others
- Be comfortable working in the open, with roadmap, designs and code visible to the open-source community
- Play a major role advancing the user experience of our products by creating new graphical interfaces and supporting infrastructure
- Design and implement high-quality software

Qualifications for javascript software engineer

- Comfortable refactoring and removing duplication in large preexisting code bases working on greenfield projects
- Programming experience in 4gl language
- A BSCS or BSEE or equivalent is required
- Familiarity with C# and .NET
- Familiarity with Rails