

Example of Lead Enterprise Architect Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our growing company is searching for experienced candidates for the position of lead enterprise architect. To join our growing team, please review the list of responsibilities and qualifications.

Responsibilities for lead enterprise architect

- Analyzes system requirements and dependencies for both IPPS-A hardware and software
- Converts mission and customer needs into system requirements and definition, and works directly with the functional and technical stakeholders to define and prioritize mission needs
- Leads or participates in the coordination, support and evaluation of program-level IPTs and meetings, and tracking actions and outcomes- Works with engineers and staff to develop designs and integrate components
- Interfaces with all aspects of the team to resolve engineering issues and actions
- Provides team leadership and technical guidance to less experienced systems engineers and supporting personnel
- Sets information architecture standards and methodologies
- Identifies the information which the enterprise produces and consumes
- Creates the strategic requirements, principles, models and designs that strengthen the network effect of sharing such information across the enterprise
- Establishes the rules for describing and completing a data valuation process for data objects
- Leads the design of the information architecture, across multiple data types

Qualifications for lead enterprise architect

- Bachelor's degree in MIS, CIS or other related discipline plus nine (9) years experience building IT solutions, documenting and defining Architecture (data, applications, security), Enterprise Architecture standards and practices, and working with COBIT implementations. OR
- High school diploma/GED or higher plus fifteen (15) years experience building IT solutions, documenting and defining Architecture (data, applications, security), Enterprise Architecture standards and practices, and working with COBIT implementations is required
- Must hold at least one or complete one technical certification (ITIL Foundation Certification or TOGAF Certification) within first year
- Valid State Drive's License
- Bachelor's degree in Computer Science or Engineering or other relevant field with, and 16 years of related experience