

Example of Lead Web Developer Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our company is hiring for a lead web developer. To join our growing team, please review the list of responsibilities and qualifications.

Responsibilities for lead web developer

- Coordinates deep troubleshooting and issue analysis, coding, testing and implementing software enhancements and/or applying patches
- Responsible for quality assurance review and metrics reporting, and serves as a business and practical expert for technical and business processes
- Additional formal and informal assignments within their area of expertise
- Owns areas of the application portfolio as the technical knowledge expert and "go-to" resource
- Presents status and organizes work for the team
- Reviews and merges code, ensuring expected standards for production release
- Construct, comment, unit test, and end-to-end test user interface programs, modules and components of high complexity
- Work with and develop client programs, classes and sub-systems of high complexity
- Perform system integration activities of high complexity
- Work with Business Analysts to ensure that technical design and programs satisfy business needs

Qualifications for lead web developer

- ECMAScript spe
- Highly beneficial to have working experience of
- Work with Business Analysts to understand and scope product requirements & vision

- Thorough knowledge and experience with modern and responsive website best practices
- Ability to mentor other development team members on UX best practices and techniques, including JavaScript's many eccentricities