

Example of Life Science Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our growing company is looking for a life science. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for life science

- Maintain and develop network of scientists in the Biology and Biomedical Field aimed at cooperation for future projects
- Preparation of offers for study phases when deemed strategic for biology & biomedical future programmatics
- Independently conduct and analyze experiments
- Dissect and purify cells
- Maintain cell cultures including under Good Manufacturing Practices
- Use a high-end fluorescent/confocal microscope to obtain images of samples to analyze
- Assist in other lab support as needed
- Participate in the preparation of written documents, including procedures, presentations, and proposals, including drafting and co-authoring publications
- Prospects and qualifies account opportunities. Previous experience selling into life science industry preferred
- The incumbent ensures customer satisfaction in service response by assigning calls and contacting customers on updates to arrival times of service

Qualifications for life science

- Extensive experience of project management and team leading skills
- Good knowledge of analytics and techniques of biomedical methods, optical processes and diagnostics of bacteria and germs
- Broad network to NASA, ESA, CNES, EU and good contacts to microgravity

- Experience in working with Airbus internal stakeholders (Innovation, R&D/T, M&S)
- Business fluent in English and German is a must
- 1-2 years' experience with transgenic mouse strains, breeding, colony maintenance