Our growing company is hiring for a manager systems engineering. Please review the list of responsibilities and qualifications. While this is our ideal list, we will consider candidates that do not necessarily have all of the qualifications, but have sufficient experience and talent.

Responsibilities for manager systems engineering

- Guides the planning and execution of the engineering schedule from initial solution architecture through to revenue service
- Contributes to medium and long term resource planning / allocation
- Leads cross-functional teams in the identification, tracking, and management of project risk
- Sets meaningful and challenging objectives for staff, and provides leadership, training and coaching to assist team members toward achieving objectives
- Provides technical advice to the Customer, the Project Manager and the Director(s), Product / Project Solutions on all technical issues
- Provide input on the overall technology plan for the organization, ensuring specific technologies integrate effectively with other aspects of the technical infrastructure
- Maintain deep technical and business knowledge of current industry directions and trends
- Provide advice, guidance and direction to carry out plans and procedures
- Understand the Operations and Architecture of the Network and recommend ways to enhance productivity and visibility through automation
- Research and identify system areas that need to improve customer experience in a proactive manner

Qualifications for manager systems engineering

- Strong knowledge of how to interact with external, , internal clients for the purpose of data gathering and design initiation
- Proven Track Record of Mentoring and driving technical and professional development of SEs
- Significant track record of accomplishment selling in the enterprise segment
- Experience with Cloud Management Software, Networking and/or Storage Virtualization a plus
- Experience managing direct customer engagement
- 15+ years related experience in the internetworking technology industry and management experience a plus