

Example of Manufacturing Director Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our company is growing rapidly and is looking to fill the role of manufacturing director. To join our growing team, please review the list of responsibilities and qualifications.

Responsibilities for manufacturing director

- Identify business drivers to associate optimal technology, services and solutions
- Work closely with sales development group to build the right strategy to gain optimum results in allocated accounts
- Work closely with the pre sales, project manager organization on technology opportunities and services accounts
- Generate and feed lead pipeline for allocated accounts / vertical
- Link in with Cloud Operations and Professional Services to deliver specified solution / product / service to customers
- To build a strong long term pipeline across allocated clients
- Deliver revenue growth goals established in conjunction with executive and vertical management for accounts
- Build strong internal relationships across all departments with the people responsible for executing what you have sold
- Deliver all RFP responses to clients and prospects when required and manage teams to deliver
- Drive all new business pitches for vertical and allocated resources in engagement

Qualifications for manufacturing director

- In-depth knowledge of manufacturing principles, concepts, industry practices, and standards

- Experience in large scale, global pharmaceutical or medical device manufacturing network is highly preferred
- Proven effectiveness driving change in various organizational cultures
- Ability to collaborate, consult and influence all levels of management and associates
- Ability to challenge business leaders at all levels while building relationships and gaining respect