Our company is growing rapidly and is looking for a medical analyst. We appreciate you taking the time to review the list of qualifications and to apply for the position. If you don't fill all of the qualifications, you may still be considered depending on your level of experience.

Responsibilities for medical analyst

- Collect quality related data via fax/mail/email and prep data for Quality Improvement team
- Identify appropriate sources of medical research, industry news, and competitive intelligence
- Conduct structured research within defined methodologies
- May collaborate with team members in Clinical Affairs, Marketing and Corporate Strategy to assemble actionable business information to support RFPs and government services programs (Medicare Advantage and Medicaid)
- May oversee content repository and develop new areas where the repository can be leveraged
- May administer document delivery and collection development
- Collaborate with Knowledge Services team and Information Services & Technology to implement technology solutions to manage knowledge assets compiled during surveillance activities
- Conduct or assist with information needs assessment of senior managers, clinical leadership, and clinical knowledge team, depending upon level
- Conduct service evaluation and process improvement
- Independently assesses the complaint to determine if a medical device report needs to be filed with various global regulatory agencies

Qualifications for medical analyst leverage knowledge of where the industry is going, future proof our investments

- Provide strong support during the build process, overseeing development to ensure the solutions are built and will meet/exceed the needs of the business
- Facilitate the UAT process, ensuring the business fully understands the capabilities and tests the complete solution and data supporting it
- Lastly, the will define the user experience, ensuring field solutions not only work but they are easy to navigate and consume
- Business/Systems Analysis role on field Projects in the Biotech or Pharmaceutical industry is required
- Must understand the components of running a fiscally successful project