

Example of Medical Director Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our growing company is looking to fill the role of medical director. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for medical director

- Work closely with project team in the Provincial Office to implement project and achieve project goals
- Provide coaching, mentoring and develop technical capacity in provincial and national programs and technical staff
- Ensure that the activities are technically sound, evidence-based and responsive to the project needs
- Assist in the identification and dissemination of best practices and new technical strategies and approaches
- Develop productive working relationships with counterparts in other agencies and organizations
- Participate in Technical Working Groups in MISAU, CDC and USAID
- Participate in the development of project annual work plans and semi-annual reports
- Provide technical input during the development of Project long-term strategies and reporting
- Keep the Technical Director and other project staff informed of successes, challenges and lessons learned in implementing programs in areas of technical expertise
- Identify and disseminate best practices and new technical strategies and approaches in areas of expertise to project team members

Qualifications for medical director

- Able to organize, prepare, and deliver presentations to groups or in one-on-one settings
- At least two years of administrative experience in a managed care organization
- Experience with product launches and life-cycle management
- Doctor of Medicine or Doctor of Osteopathy from an accredited medical school
- Current, unrestricted license to practice medicine (including DEA license and BLS certification) in the State of California, or ability to obtain by the time of hire