

Example of Medical Information Specialist Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our innovative and growing company is hiring for a medical information specialist. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for medical information specialist

- Promote medical products and provide before- and after-sale services to current and potential clients and customers in either HA or private sector for the therapeutic area of internal medicine
- Achieve sales target and profitability targets of product line
- Establish and maintain excellent professional relationships with the key opinion leaders, medical and pharmaceutical professionals
- Has or is able to attain sufficient knowledge adequate to ensure appropriate provision of verbal and written responses to customers
- Complete all assigned work on-time, on-target and with the highest levels of clinical accuracy and relevance
- Take on and complete departmental projects as assigned
- Utilize only approved resources and processes to meet goals and targets
- Provides training on using information resources, copyright compliance, intellectual access and digital rights management and bibliographic referencing and procurement
- Reviews and assists in the updates of new procedures and SOPs to improve efficiency, work flow, and quality of implementation
- Ensures utilization of technologies (e.g., ePIR, IRMS) to improve the flow of information and reduce administrative tasks

Qualifications for medical information specialist assess and synthesize CER, health outcomes and pharmacoeconomic evidence

- Proficient at managing multiple, complex and competing priorities
- Ability to translate analytical /critical appraisal skills and competence across therapeutic areas to add value
- Ability to proactively engage with internal stakeholders
- Demonstrable experience in a clinical setting preferred eg pharmacy, hospital
- Experience within pharmaceutical industry