

Example of Microbiology Technician Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our company is growing rapidly and is searching for experienced candidates for the position of microbiology technician. Thank you in advance for taking a look at the list of responsibilities and qualifications. We look forward to reviewing your resume.

Responsibilities for microbiology technician

- Perform microbiology & particulate testing of product and processes (clean room, WFI loop) by accurately following all testing as specified by the appropriate quality documentation
- Perform environmental monitoring in manufacturing areas, including tracking & trending test results and performing bioburden sampling in controlled areas
- Support plant and customer quality continuous improvement teams
- Assist in the equipment qualification for new quality lab
- Assist in method transfer & method validation
- Must be able to demonstrate and apply good gowning technique during certification, re-certification, and routine monitoring
- Must be able to understand the operation and application of all monitoring devices that are automated or manually operated in the department
- Must be able to demonstrate the ability to monitor all environmental parameters, such as viable and non-viable sampling, personnel sampling, and utilities following laboratory and company guidelines
- Sterility Isolator Loading
- Support OpEx and WISE OWLS initiatives

Qualifications for microbiology technician

- Must possess organizational and communication skills and have a proven

- Exposure to cGMP or GLP regulations is preferred
- Typical physical demands include visual acuity to study specimens under a microscope and the ability to distinguish colors
- Computer skills (LIMS, Excel, Access,) a plus
- Demonstrate good documentation practice