

Example of Mobile Product Manager Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our growing company is looking to fill the role of mobile product manager. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for mobile product manager

- Lead the strategy, concept, feature and functionality definition, development and launch of mobile products both in-house and with strategic partners
- Generate support for your initiatives from stakeholders across the company
- Lead user research, metrics gathering, competitive and performance analyses of all of your products, and communicate results across the company
- Become an expert on The Huffington Post mobile website, app products, and user experience
- Drive prioritization of the HBC Digital mobile roadmap based on demand drivers, business needs, and overall mobile landscape
- Determine and define the functional scope of projects that introduce new features and functionality and/or improve upon existing features and functionality for mobile channels
- Identify and solicit internal recommendations for mobile improvement and incorporate in discussions regarding product roadmap
- Research and recommend “best practices” based on competitive analysis for mobile development projects
- Lead the definition, development and launch of mobile products both in-house and with strategic partners
- Help to shape the overarching product vision, roadmap, and go to market strategy

Qualifications for mobile product manager

- Specific product management in mobile applications with a deep, holistic understanding of the mobile user experience (including application stores, unique mobile capabilities, user behavior, and the underlying technical architecture)
- Lead a team of designers, engineers, and testers to translate business intent into product features using an agile SDLC
- Be responsible for the front end Android mobile payments experience
- Employ and evangelize Lean Startup development and design thinking methodologies including facilitating customer research
- Manage feature requirements and backlog