

Example of Monitoring Manager Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our company is growing rapidly and is looking to fill the role of monitoring manager. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for monitoring manager

- Manage the education and awareness program including employee / specialized user group training, and client related security education initiatives
- Execute periodic phishing exercises for end users, develop educational material (do's and don'ts), provide newsletters
- Perform internal incident response tabletop exercises and participate in industry related exercises
- Govern overall information security monitoring program
- Participate and manage cross functional projects on integration, maintenance and enforcement of security requirements
- Manage day to day operations, including performance, time and attendance, employee relation issues, employee development, and retention
- Manage the entire product line life cycle from strategic planning to development and launch
- Specify market requirements for current and future products by conducting market research, competitive analysis and validation supported by ongoing visits to customers, prospects and partners
- Create compelling business cases for new products which offer significant revenue potential that is measurable and achievable
- Articulate the product positioning, key selling points and define the pricing strategy for the product line

Qualifications for monitoring manager

- Effective influencing skills and ability to drive change as it relates to implementing remedial actions
- Support the PNDS Secretariat Monitoring and Evaluation staff with monitoring and evaluation activities
- Lead monitoring & evaluation activities for the PNDS Support Program including compilation of reports, data collection and integrating learning opportunities across the program
- The flexibility to appreciate the commercial objectives of the business, coupled with an ability to challenge, independently and constructively, senior management, peers or other staff where appropriate, to insist upon adherence to the highest standards of business practice and to the requirements of relevant authorities
- Minimum undergraduate degree in business, computer science or related field required