

Example of Music Professor Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our growing company is searching for experienced candidates for the position of music professor. Thank you in advance for taking a look at the list of responsibilities and qualifications. We look forward to reviewing your resume.

Responsibilities for music professor

- Possibility of teaching in the summer graduate program for additional compensation
- Advise undergraduate and graduate students (serve on graduate committees and oversee master's thesis projects)
- Build and maintain professional relationships with regional and national post-secondary music educators
- Foster and facilitate ongoing collaboration and communication with area K-12 music educators
- Serve as faculty sponsor for CNAfME student chapter
- Actively participate in Tennessee Music Education Association
- Serve on faculty committees
- Maintain an active program of research
- Work closely with Fred Fox School of Music ensemble directors concerning placement and performance of horn students within ensembles
- Work closely with brass faculty regarding brass seminars, recitals, juries, guest artists

Qualifications for music professor

- Terminal degree – OR – Masters degree plus documented tested experience in the music industry to meet criteria under Higher Learning Commission (HLC) faculty credentialing requirements
- Master's degree from an accredited institution, conferred on an official

- Three (3) years of professional experience in music industry in commercial and contemporary styles of music
- Documented successful classroom teaching experience in music at the college level
- Documented professional experience in business aspects of the music industry
- Documented evidence of creative technology or production skills