Our company is looking to fill the role of .NET software engineer. We appreciate you taking the time to review the list of qualifications and to apply for the position. If you don't fill all of the qualifications, you may still be considered depending on your level of experience.

Responsibilities for .NET software engineer

- Designs for projects are Consistent with product architecture, quality and performance
- Work closely with members of sales administration
- Participate as a development team member in the agile (Scrum) process throughout the SDLC to produce high performing, advanced risk analytics for our customers
- Design and develop new software or modify existing software using disciplined processes, adhering to industry standards and best practices
- Take part in reviews of work, design and code reviews, and demonstrate software to all stakeholders
- Work with technical staff to analyze problems with complex software and resolve them
- Business Analysis - participate in the analysis of customer's business requirements and high-level functional design of systems
- Software Support - Implement enhancements, perform regression testing, develop documentation, and troubleshoot/debug production systems
- Project Management - lead all aspects of small to medium engagements with campus customers
- End-to-end design and delivery of internal Web sites to support a wide variety users

Qualifications for .NET software engineer

- At least 2 years of .NET Application Development experience
- At least 1 year of experience using Angular
- At least 1 year of experience using Java
- Knowledge of development concepts for Windows and Web-based Services
- Analysis skills for technical problems and solutions of moderate to high risk