

Example of Network Planning Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our growing company is looking for a network planning. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for network planning

- Collaborate with airline in the development of the traffic and revenue forecasts that form the basis of fleet plans
- Strategically develop fleet plans that suit the airline customer's needs, inclusive of airplane type, fleet transition, and operational characteristics
- Provide consultative services to internal customers on the market requirements of new airplane products in the rapidly changing airline industry
- Assists in the development and maintenance of tools and processes used
- Participates in determining and executing business case opportunities analysis by determining analysis objectives
- Evaluates our competitors strategic direction, products and services, pricing strategies and core competencies through utilization of industry wide resources to achieve competitive advantage
- Develops, maintains, and utilizes competitor intelligence, databases, and competitor profiles
- Identifies market environment trends to define and recommend the company's strategic direction
- Develops, maintains, and utilizes market forecasting models to identify business trends and opportunities
- Working closely with your team of Operations Research Scientists and Strategic Network Planners to drive analysis, business cases and alignment with business stake-holders

Qualifications for network planning

- Ability to lead through organization and cultural change the ability to navigate and thrive in ambiguity
- Ability to access and use internal and external systems per position needs
- Experience in working within a global and culturally diverse organization
- Bachelor's degree in industrial engineering or supply chain
- Analyze market trends to identify customer requirements