Our growing company is hiring for a network planning. We appreciate you taking the time to review the list of qualifications and to apply for the position. If you don't fill all of the qualifications, you may still be considered depending on your level of experience.

Responsibilities for network planning

- Create and maintain network diagrams and support documentation
- Manage the deployment of new network services, ensuring all deliverables meet operational expectations
- Manages the global service levels to customers and drives the inventories to entitlement levels
- Leads different S&OP (Supply and Demand focused end-to-end Planning) meetings for the Value Streams assigned
- Consolidates the WW demand plan and hands it over to the supply planning organization (internal or external) to ensure correct future supply
- Maintains and develops tools to analyze and review possible misalignments between NPIs, Demand, Capacity with relevant teams to address and close gaps
- Maintains and leads the Management Business Review
- Identifies gaps between latest financial plan and demand plan
- Highlight and escalate supply disruptions and work with functions to identify root cause and to resolve supply issues and constraints
- Recommends Initiate and Coordinates the Global Allocations process according to WW Marketing direction

Qualifications for network planning

- Develop key metrics and performance indicators to evaluate overall

- Lead the capacity expansion within the existing fulfillment center and introduction of new network nodes
- Create innovative solutions and process improvements in the Capacity and Network Planning Process
- Develop a roadmap for systems and tools development for capacity planning by working closely with Technology teams
- Manage communication with multiple key stakeholders from different functions to ensure smooth and efficient flow of accurate information
- At least 5 years of experience managing technology/networking-related projects