Our innovative and growing company is looking to fill the role of node JS. Thank you in advance for taking a look at the list of responsibilities and qualifications. We look forward to reviewing your resume.

Responsibilities for node JS

- In this hands-on role, you will work closely with product owners, engineering and executive teams to drive some of the applications development from inception to completion
- You will be working in a collaborative team using agile software development methodology
- The applications would be deployed across several customer bases in existing deployments
- Design, implement, and test reusable software components for embedded and/or server platforms
- Write software documentation and specifications, as necessary
- Debug and analyze the performance and system resource usage of software components
- Effectively collaborate with other engineers, designers, user experience experts, and researchers
- Collaborate with team on architecture and technical design discussions
- Plans work and implements utilizing standard engineering and technology principles and established company processes and procedures to complete assignments per established project deadlines
- Uses good software development and engineering judgment in making adaptations or modifications

Qualifications for node JS

- Front end Angular JS Development
- Keep an eye on emerging technologies to identify opportunities, trends, and best practices that can be used to strengthen company's technology platform and development practices
- Familiarity with scripting languages such as Ruby, Perl or Python and functional programming
- Expertise in building REST based reactive micro services platform