Our company is growing rapidly and is looking for a python developer. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for python developer

- Designs limited enhancements, updates, and programming changes for portions and subsystems of systems/application software, including utilities, databases, and Internet-related tools
- Leverage your deep understanding of Python technology
- Support prototyping and automation of ETL pipelines for the platform
- Design, implement & document the backend APIs for the platform
- Perform test-driven development, and get involved in quality assurance discussions
- Interact with Business Users to understand key requirements of the projects and document it well
- Actively build, develop solutions across SDLC
- Fix and own complete UAT cycle partnering with business users globally
- Collaborate with a small team of engineers to develop cutting edge technologies for the entertainment industry potentially including contributions intellectual property through patent generation
- Create designs and proposals for user interface layouts (Javascript, Bootstrap, React) , API, SDK and other programming interfaces

Qualifications for python developer

- Familiarity with Fixed Income products, pricing, and risk management concepts
- Excellent knowledge of Python language

- Experience with multi process and multi threading environments is a big plus
- Good understanding of building fully responsive and efficient websites