Our company is hiring for a report developer. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for report developer

- Subject matter expert in maintaining views, procedures, and reports using Microsoft Report Builder and Microsoft T-SQL
- Creates data sources which include SQL stored procedures
- Creates all stored procedures, views, tables, indexes, and SQL agents required for report development
- Mines information from databases in a variety of formats such as XML, CVS
- Collaborates with various functional teams such as Finance, Product Management, PMO, and Information Technology to achieve business results
- Acts as a system administrator for reporting applications such as uKnight, JIRA, and HP ALM
- Works with various teams to ensure that data required to support reports is entered as needed
- Ensures the timely and accurate reporting of daily, monthly, weekly, quarterly, and annual project management, statistical, and financial data
- Works with the development, tools, and database teams to automate reporting functions
- Trains users on report creation, modification, and interpretation

Qualifications for report developer

- Design and develop compelling visualizations optimized to support data analysis needs using BI tools such as Pentaho and Tableau
- Manipulate data and build OLAP cubes and dimensional models
- Apply Agile methodologies in the design, development, and testing of BI

- Keep abreast of improvements in reporting, data visualization, and dashboard development best practices technologies
- B.E/ B.Tech /MCA in Information Technology & Computer Science
- Proficient hands on SQL (SPSS or SAS desirable), experience in working across various large scale data platforms (Oracle, Sybase, Netezza,) and ability to work with undocumented/ unstructured data