

Example of Research Director Job Description

Powered by www.VelvetJobs.com

Our company is growing rapidly and is looking to fill the role of research director. If you are looking for an exciting place to work, please take a look at the list of qualifications below.

Responsibilities for research director

- Have in-depth knowledge (including design) of survey systems (eg Survey Gizmo)
- And understanding of, or interest to learn about banking and capital markets
- Responsible for the smooth operation of the study on a day-to-day basis, interacting with investigators, consultants, board members, to insure project timelines and goals are met
- Responsible for recruiting, screening, selecting, maintaining, and terminating study subjects for multiple protocols
- In conjunction with the protocol, monitor admission testing, assist with diagnostic procedures, and outpatient follow-up
- Collaborate with investigators in the development and coordination of all study collections measures and protocols
- Assist investigators with the interpretation of data collected and preparation of study reports
- Participate in the development, implementation, and ongoing functioning of the study tracking systems
- Recruit, help select, supervise, and evaluate all project staff
- Prepare ongoing summary reports of various data sources, and collaborate with investigators on data presentation, interpretation, and the writing of manuscripts for publication and grant proposals

Qualifications for research director

research in that area and experience in assessment

- Ability to work independently and to supervise and train co-workers
- Ability to conceptualize econometric forecasting models, construct them in statistical analysis software and explain the models to clients
- Demonstrated proficiency using technology to organize and execute projects
- Demonstrated strength in analytic, problem solving, and critical thinking skills
- Proved record of mentoring researchers and guiding them to success